FROM BUCK'S BAR.

The following communication was written by a gentleman from Buck's Bar, under date of May 18th He says

On May 2d we embarked in a large canoe from Fort Wrangell, and by favorable winds and hard work reached in eight days, the Hudson Bay Company's Post, 80 miles from Fort Wrangell At this place we were overhauled by Johnny Bull's Custom House official and he "went through" us for about half we were worth When we started from the Hudson Bay's Post, we hired a couple of Indians to assist in the propelling of our craft on the remainder of the passage to Buck's Bar After traveling until 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Indians announced that they were afraid to go any farther We held a consultation and concluded to return so we headed her down stream and in 52 minutes we drifted back to H B Post from where we had been all day in making We then concluded that we had had about enough of canoe travel up the Stickine, and decided to wait the return of the Glenora and finish the trip by steam While stopping at the H B Post there were about 30 men arrived there from Fort Wrangell in canoes bound for Buck Bar most of whom, like ourselves stopped and took the steamer from that point among them was a reporter of the California Alta He took his shovel and pick and went prospecting while there but did not "strike a lead worth going for"

There were also quite a number of men passed down while we were waiting here, but they brought nothing very startling from the interior After a detention of about four days, we started per steamer Glenora at 3 P M on May 17th, made a six-mile wood-pile at 4:10, took on a full load of wood after which we ran until 10:40, when the darkness made it necessary to tie up, I am not particularly fond of early rising but having been told that the "Hyas Canyon" was close at hand that we would pass through the first thing in the morning, and wishing to see her go through I was out at 3 30 A M with the first turn of the wheel. But we did not get to the canyon until 8 At 6 30 all hands and the cook were called on the bank to receive an appetizer for their breakfast by cutting cordwood enough to carry her through the canyon, in which sport captain, crew and passengers joined In the canyon the water was found very swift The narrowest place I think was about 70 feet and the current I should judge was running about 9 or 10 miles with a fall of about 3 feet to the mile. But the Glenora has a pretty good driving power, and with 132 pounds of steam she climbed nobly and victoriously through the "Hyas Canyon" A few miles farther up we passed through a smaller canyon of much less furious and turbulent water and upon inquiry I was informed it was called "Klootchman Canyon" I thought I had seen about the toughest water there was to be contended with but about 6 P M we came to something that took the shine off of all the steamboating that there has yet been witnessed by me I have followed steamboating for an occupation for six or eight years but when we came to a place where a 117 mile boat with a 136 pounds of steam, had to lead one hundred feet of line ahead and make it fast to a tree, and then the passengers all man the windlass and wind in on it to help the steamer over the riffle, I own that I had not seen all that there was to be seen in steamboating. 9 40 P M 18th—we have just arrived and the steamer departs too soon for me to learn any intelligence from the interior to forward by this communication

BROOKS AND BAXTER

Here is the best short statement of the Brooks-Baxter controversy we have seen It is from the Washington Chronicle

It is difficult to secure the publication in Democratic journals of an impartial statement of the Baxter Brooks dispute in Arkansas The assertion that the Legislature and the Supreme Court of Arkansas have each adjudicated the question and decided in Baxter's favor is not true The election returns for Governor in Arkansas are sent to and opened by the President of the Senate in the presence of the Senators In this case many of the returns were withheld those opened and registered by the presiding officer of the Senate indicated Baxter's election He took the oath of office and assumed the duties of Governor In this procedure there was certainly no adjudication by the Legislature

But the Constitution and laws of Arkansas provide two modes of redress in case of a contest for a State office First by petition to the General Assembly secondly by suit in court for the office and salary

Brooks first attempted to obtain a hearing by the Legislature and presented his petition The petition was summarily rejected not being received read or discussed in either branch This could not be regarded as an adjudication The reason of this summary rejection is alleged to have been the fact that a majority of the members of the Legislature held their places by virtue of the same false returns used to inaugurate Governor Baxter But without challenging the motives of any member, the fact stands out plainly that Brooks was simply denied a hearing by that body The case was not therefore adjudicated by it

The Attorney General of Arkansas did apply to the Supreme Court of the State for a writ of quo warranto in this case Had this writ been granted and executed, it would have become the duty of Baxter to have shown by what authority he held the office This proceeding might have resulted in his ouster from the office without settling either way the merits of Brooks' pretensions But the writ was never issued The Supreme Court declined to take jurisdiction of the case in that form

It is also alleged in this connection that the courtroom was filled with armed men in Baxter's interest for the purpose of intimidating the court that one of them being a militia officer proclaimed that he held in his hand a proclamation of martial law signed by Baxter as Governor and an order from the same source directing him to disperse the court should they assume jurisdiction of the case The court did not however issue the writ consequently the case was not heard and on its merits could not therefore be properly said to have been adjudicated by the Supreme Court

Having been deprived of a hearing before the Legislature and the merits never having been considered by the Supreme Court in the quo warranto case Brooks availed himself of the second mode of redress provided by the laws of his State and brought his own action in the Circuit Court for the office and [illegible] Brooks' favor after which he took the oath of office and commenced the discharge of the duties of Governor It is clear that this decision can be overturned only in one of two modes by a reversal on appeal to the Supreme Court or by the Legislature [illegible] Brooks' party [illegible] of the court [illegible] and pledge themselves to abide by its [illegible] Baxter party [illegible] have the case settled by the Legislature which refused to receive or hear Brooks' petition and now appeal to the Supreme Court to prevent a decision by the Supreme Court

A DAM ACCIDENT IN WISCONSIN—A special dispatch to the Chicago [illegible] from [illegible] Wisconsin [illegible] reports a terrible and fatal accident at Gardner's Dam [illegible] Upper Wolf river [illegible] The [illegible] men in charge [illegible] to relieve the pressure on the [illegible] Nine men were [illegible] the men were washed [illegible] sixteen feet [illegible] over which [illegible] were washed off by the [illegible] swept away and [illegible] were swept along [illegible] Clark brother of John H Puls Jerry Casey Nicholas Notts [illegible] Indian were instantly killed Peter Latin and Mike Madden were saved by being washed to the [illegible] where they succeeded in getting out of the reach [illegible] The other [illegible] more or less bruised [illegible]

INTRODUCING SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS.

The following General Order—No 11—was received a few days since from the War Department at Washington under date of May 16th 1874 at the Headquarters of the Department of the Columbia

The Act of Congress of March 3 1873 having extended the laws of the United States relating to customs commerce navigation and trade and intercourse with Indian tribes etc over the mainland and islands and waters of the territory ceded to the United States by the Emperor of Russia by treaty concluded at Washington on the 20th day of March A D 1867 the introduction into the Territory of Alaska of spirituous liquors and wines except such supplies as shall be necessary for the officers of the United States and troops of the service under the direction of the War Department is prohibited Such supplies will be introduced into the Territory only upon special permit to be given from Headquarters of the Department of the Columbia

Spirituous liquors or wines for ports or place which can be reached only by passing through the Territory of Alaska shipped upon vessels intending to touch at or trade with places in or pass through the waters of Alaska may be landed in any port in that Territory for transshipment only under the regulation of the Treasury Department

The commanding officer at Sitka Alaska will proceed against all persons violating Sections 20 and 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 30 1834 by introducing any spirituous liquors or wines into the Territory of Alaska as therein directed

VANCOUVER ITEMS

The cold weather has very materially checked [illegible] in the Columbia in fact the water has fallen for a few days past

Politics still quiet on this side of the Columbia but the Independents are taking courage from their late success in Oregon It is proposed here to form a grand combination of all the political rings and nominate all leading office seekers for official positions Such a ticket is thought will be successful

A petition is in circulation praying Governor Ferry to commute the sentence of M Hartigan the murderer of Colwinkle to imprisonment for life He is sentenced to be hung on Wednesday next Considering all the circumstances under which the act was committed it is believed that the sentence should be commuted

Charles Lenton jeweler ex-soldier once or twice deserter etc left Vancouver last Sunday evening without the formality of bidding his friends good bye Charles had been a Good Templar for a few months and consequently for that length of time had been a man of temperate habits Charles for that length of time had been very industrious and his shop window was well filled with watches In his haste to depart he neglected to deposit these with some trusty friend for safe keeping but took them along Some of these watches are valuable and are quite a loss to their several owners We are informed that a set of jewelry valued at over $100, belonging to the wife of one of the officers at the garrison was taken with the watches Altogether Charles has quite a stock to commence business with Telegraphic dispatches have been sent in all directions to notify the officers of the law that Charles is abroad and that should they meet him to show him proper attention

A sad affair occurred a few days ago on Fern Prairie resulting in the death, on Sunday evening of the son and only child of Mr Philip Buchanan The particulars as we have gathered them are as follows On Friday last Mr and Mrs Buchanan being away the son aged about fourteen, was left in charge of the premises A neighbor's son by the name of Knapp joined him for company The two conceived the idea of running away and going into Eastern Oregon probably with the desire of change or novelty as neither could have had a cause for leaving kind and indulging parents Young Buchanan packed his clothes and the boys borrowed guns and pistols from the neighbors Thus equipped they started towards the river but relenting and with shame hesitating to return they wandered about in the vicinity living chiefly on strawberries till Sunday evening On Saturday Mr B returned and finding that his son had left sent out scouts along the river to see if the boys had crossed or passed up or down it but gaining no tidings returned home on Sunday evening During the evening after his return the report of a pistol was heard outside when the father supposing the son had fired to give a signal of his return went out to meet him and receive him back, but what was his horror and grief to find his son lying on the ground a lifeless corpse Young Knapp was in the vicinity and came up after hearing the confusion that followed the finding of the body He affirmed that his comrades had gone to the house to obtain something to eat as he was no longer able to endure hunger The supposition is that as he was very sensitive and had committed so great a wrong against kind parents the guilt and shame so preyed upon his mind, his body being enfeebled by want of food, that his mental faculties were deranged, and that he took his own life The verdict of the Coroner's jury was in accordance with this supposition died from a pistol shot by his own hand during a fit of temporary insanity Some however think the pistol was accidentally fired while he was in the act of shutting the gate which he had immediately passed through The ball entered his forehead and passed out at the back of the head The body was buried in the City Cemetery on Tuesday

PUGET SOUND ITEMS

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 1874.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S VICTORY.

Not only for the defeat of the ring, but for another unusual feature, will the election of last Monday be long remembered. It was the first contest in this county in which all or nearly all the citizens took an active part. Heretofore it has been the custom of a large portion of the business men of Portland either to stay away from the polls entirely or merely to go and cast their votes as quickly as possible and then return to their business. The elections have thus been left in the hands of the interested parties, who make politics a trade, and those whom they employ to assist them in their political designs. It is needless to say that elections so conducted have been disreputable in their practices and demoralizing in their influence.

On last Monday the business men of Portland, of all parties, united in an agreement to close their places of business from ten o'clock in the forenoon till the hour for closing the polls. The object of this suspension of business was that those who are most affected by the results of the election, and consequently in the purity of the ballot might attend the polls and make their influence felt as much as possible; and the plan fully justified all the hopes that had been entertained for it. The presence of the business men of the city around the voting places, awed disorderly people, and intimidated those who have been in the habit of buying, as well as those who have been in the habit of selling votes. To this fact in large measure is due the good order maintained at the polls and the absence of the open and notorious bribery which has characterized elections in this city for a number of years. And to these causes are to be attributed the success of the people in the election.

The citizens of Portland should not forget the effect of their active interest in the contest just past. It has revealed to them the secret of success—the way to make their voice all-powerful. They should bear in mind that in a business way they have profited by closing up their places and attending at the polls. Fortune always lavishes her favors upon the vigilant—which is just equivalent to saying there is no such thing as fortune except as another name for the result of industry and attention to what one has in hand. The people have now discovered how to use power. It is for them to say whether they will make the best use of the discovery, or whether they will fall back into the old rut and leave matters of vital importance to themselves in the hands of selfish and designing politicians whose objects are accomplished and whose ambition is gratified by means of swapping and bartering in the elective franchise.

FURTHER UNLOADING.

Mr. Secretary Richardson has fallen from the Treasury to the Court of Claims. It was not a difficult thing for him to fall out of the Treasury Department. He went down as noiselessly as a snowflake. When the President indicated his desire for the removal of the Secretary, by sending the name of his successor to the Senate, that august body found not the slightest objection to the proposition. The nomination of a successor to the Secretary was confirmed unanimously and without a question being asked. The President said the country had had about enough of the financial genius of Richardson, and the Senate simply said amen. And the whole country will feel, for a time at least that the Treasury is relieved of an incubus. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Bristow has in his mind some mode of reforming the administration of this Department, so as to meet the expectations of the commercial and manufacturing interests. The people expect at his hands something that it may be difficult to give them. No amount of financial ability and knowledge of commercial economy will suffice to restore life and vigor to prostrated trade, when all the industries and enterprises of the country are at a standstill. The Secretary of the Treasury can not set the iron manufactories upon a course of prosperous activity when there are no railways building and when the number and capacity of these manufactories are quite sufficient to any demand that might be made upon them for building railways and ships, and to supply material for all the ordinary purposes of trade besides. If the remedy is to be furnished by the Government at all, —which appears extremely doubtful—it will come through Congress. But the people had got tired of Richardson, and it is altogether unlikely they have got in Bristow any worse man for the place, though it may turn out they have no better.

Not with the same alacrity, however, did the Senate assent to the idea that the retiring Secretary must be provided for in some other position. They could not see how his unfitness for the Treasury constituted a peculiar qualification for the Court of Claims; and they did not readily admit that the statute of limitations had barred his right to re-enter the ranks of his profession, in which he formerly occupied a very respectable position. So when it came to the vote on confirmation of his nomination to the Court of Claims, some of the Republicans were lounging about the hotels, some in the smoking rooms, and nobody knows where else, and a few enjoyed in silence the attack of the opposition upon Richardson, and his confirmation was at last accomplished by a bare majority.

It is hardly likely that Richardson is less righteous in the main than a large proportion of the men of his party who gave him the cold shoulder on this occasion. But the Republican party has evidently resolved to unload, and its leading members are losing no opportunity to advertise that fact. Whenever an unfortunate brother of the faithful gets into bad odor with the public, no matter whether justly or unjustly, the men who have reached their positions by studying the public sympathies and being governed by them, immediately make a scape-goat of the unfortunate individual, pile all their sins upon his back and hoot him out of the camp—if he will go. So they would do with Richardson, only the President is more of a man and less of a politician than the partners of Sanborn who occupy seats in Congress. But will the party unload? Will it make thorough work of it? Several circumstances that have taken place recently would seem to give promise that it will. There is much reason to hope that the process of regeneration that has worked so powerfully among the masses of the people has also reached the rulers of the party, and that it may show fruits meet for repentance, by repealing the acts of Congress passed for the support of political thieves, removing incompetent or dishonest officers, and endeavoring to keep in sight the wants of the country and the wishes of the people.

FOURTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

Incomplete returns give the following vote for District Judge and Prosecuting Attorney:

	Shattuck.	Johnson.	Thompson.	Moreland.
Multnomah	1,544	1,159	1,391	1,295
Columbia	170	49	132	85
Washington	195	88	176	107
	1,909	1,296	1,699	1,487

There is one very decided recommendation to Senator Stewart's bill to reconstruct the government of the District of Columbia. It provides for five commissioners to run the government, with a salary of $8,000 each. Here are five eligible positions into which political friends can be placed, whereas under the existing government the only really desirable place is that of Governor. The new is five to one better than the old, in this respect. Unless there is some peculiar and very important objection to the bill in other respects, it ought to be passed without delay.

General Chipman has introduced a bill in the lower house of Congress providing for the appropriation by the Government of $325,000 to complete the Washington monument. The bill requires the monument to be completed, and of a height not exceeding 450 feet, by the Fourth of July, 1876, and that the Washington Monument Society shall convey to the Government all its interest in the plat of ground known as Reservation No. 3, where the monument stands.

The rest of the ring would better go to Alaska. The members of it that are there now are the only ones that are happy—if they are. If Scott would like to go, a collection could be taken up for that purpose.

Ring men's faces are being offered for sale on the streets, to be used for yard-sticks. They are not in active demand, however, as they are too long.

FIRE ALARM BELL ARRIVED.—At length the fire alarm bell which was ordered months ago has arrived. It reached here on the steamer Ajax. As soon as the bell was hoisted from the steamer to the wharf it was taken charge of by the Chief Engineer, and soon after conveyed to the engine house of Willamette No. 1. The ponderous mass of bell metal was deposited on the sidewalk in front of the old city jail. The bell is from the well known foundry of Meneely & Sons, West Troy, New York. Exclusive of the rotary yoke this bell weighs 4,007 pounds and the whole thing will weigh 4,365 pounds. Its dimensions are, 4 feet 2 inches high and 5½ feet in diameter at the mouth, which will enable the reader to form some idea of the size of the bell. The bell is said to have been cast of the finest quality of alloy, and possesses an excellent tone. From its immense size it is safe to say that it can be heard, when rung, for miles around. By all odds it is the largest bell ever brought to the State, and there are but few on the Pacific coast compared with which this one is inferior, in point of tone or dimensions. No point has as yet been selected where this alarm bell will be hung. Plans, we learn, have been prepared for a large tower, which will be presented to the Common Council. Some central location will be selected. Probably the tower will be erected on the present site of the old city jail. Now that the long expected bell has arrived, we presume the tower will be erected without delay.

SMALL POX CASES.—At present there are only two cases of smallpox at the pest house. One is the child who took the disease while aboard the Stephens and the other is also a small child who has contracted the scourge since the steamer arrived here. Both patients are now at the pest house and are receiving every attention possible. They are getting along nicely and will shortly be beyond all danger. All the steerage passengers who came up on the steamer, and were quarantined, have been released. They were kept for several days on board the Gussie Telfair, and then allowed to go on shore. These passengers were vaccinated and all their clothing disinfected thoroughly, so that the public health would not be imperiled by permitting them to come on shore. Several persons who work about the Gussie Telfair, and have been exposed to the disease, are still restrained of their liberty. After the allotted time has elapsed, and no more cases are developed the Gussie Telfair will be allowed to come alongside the wharf. Every possible precaution is being taken and no fear need be entertained as to the spread of the contagion.

DECLARED FORFEITED.—The case of the man Jack Donaldson, who was arrested on Monday charged with illegal voting, came up in Police Court yesterday morning. When his name was called, Jack failed to throw his classic features within the range of the Court's vision, and on diligent search being made his whereabouts could not be discovered. So at length, when the defendant could not be found, the bonds were declared forfeited on motion of the District Attorney. Donaldson, after being arrested, was admitted to bail in the paltry sum of $200, which bonds he obtained without difficulty. Ere this the fugitive has doubtless reached Victoria, where he will be safe. It is said that some of Donaldson's friends hired a couple of men to row him in a boat to Kalama on Monday night. Arriving at that place, the fugitive could, of course, take the train for Tacoma, and then proceed to any part of the Sound. Straw bail is but little better than the famous "leg-bail," especially when the offense charged is illegal voting, with favorable prospects of securing conviction.

DISABLED.—While the steamer Ajax was on the way to this port yesterday morning and had reached a point in the Wallamet opposite Postoffice Bar, she met with an accident resulting in a partial disablement of the vessel. Either a sunken log or one of the submerged bar buoys, became entangled in the propeller. A loud crash was heard distinctly by all on board, and the collision shook the vessel from bow to stern. The precise extent of damage is not known, but it is thought that one or more of the flukes of the propeller is broken. However, the damages are not sufficient to seriously interfere with the speed of the steamer. Immediately on arriving at San Francisco, the screw will be examined, and if the damage warrant, the propeller will be taken out and a new one substituted.

PLAZA MUSIC—SUBSCRIPTION.—A subscription paper is in circulation asking monthly and season donations to the Portland City Band for defraying expenses incurred by playing on the plaza and also to enable them to purchase uniforms for new members as well as new instruments. The band proposes to play semi-weekly providing the subscription meets their expectations. Several donations have been made and and as only a small sum is expected from the liberal minded, we have no doubt the list will be readily filled. We hope sufficient encouragement will be given the band to ensure the continuance of the concerts, which have proven, so far, quite entertaining. The donation need not be large if many sign the subscription list.

SEVERE ATTACK.—Dr. Mack, of East Portland, was setting in his office yesterday afternoon, holding his little child in his lap and conversing with his wife, when he was seized with a violent attack of illness or a spasm, which instantly deprived him of the powers of motion, sensation and speech. Medical aid was immediately called and restoratives applied, which partially roused him, and at last accounts he was some better, but still in a serious, but it is hoped by his many friends, not a dangerous condition.

S. S. PICNIC.—We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend a picnic at Oswego, to be given by the Congregational and Baptist Sunday Schools, on Saturday, weather permitting. The steamer E. N. Cooke is engaged for the occasion. Members and friends of the schools can obtain tickets (price, 50 cents) of A. S. Abernethy, County Clerk's office and Geo. W. Traver, corner Third and Morrison streets.

EXCURSION.—On Sunday morning the steamer Calliope will take an excursion party from Rainier and points below to Freeport on the Cowlitz. A brass band from that city will accompany the excursionists, who are expected to number one hundred.

AMUSEMENTS.

PETITION—COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was read from the Mayor

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Portland—I herewith return without my signature "An Ordinance entitled An Ordinance making appropriation out of the Park Fund for the relief of certain persons" passed by your body on the 6th inst

A similar ordinance was passed in December last appropriating for the same purpose $420 6. instead of $.1. 15. This ordinance was returned without approval and in communication dated 12th December 1873 it was shown

1st That no contract was binding upon the city unless authorized by ordinance and that no contract was authorized for the building or repairing of houses on public park

2d That the resolution under which the committee assumed to act in making said expenditures upon the park did not relate to removal or repair of buildings

3d That the Committee on Streets and Public Property never did contract for the work to the amount stated and that had it exercised such power under the resolution it would have been contrary to the charter and void

4th That a majority of the Committee on Streets and Public Property reported that they had never authorized the expenditure of such an amount but under the impression that the resolution gave them the power they consented to an expenditure not exceeding forty dollars

5th That the passage of this ordinance would transgress section 125 of the charter which is the most effective of all its provisions as a protection to the tax payers

The ordinance named failed to pass, and subsequently another ordinance similar in its provisions failed to command the votes of a majority of the Council

The ordinance now under consideration recites that certain work has been done and materials furnished in the removal and repairs of a house in the public park without proper authority but for which the city is receiving the benefit thereof

It is admitted in the ordinance that the work was done without proper authority but it is claimed that the city is receiving the benefit thereof

The facts are that the work was ordered and performed under the direction and supervision of an individual who was employed by the Committee to clear the park and protect the shrubbery, the city has never reaped any benefit from the improvement at least the house has never been occupied by the city or under its authority

Nearly one half of the amount sought to be appropriated by this ordinance is for the relief of an individual who is surety for a defaulting contractor. As a consequence of this default $333 50 must be appropriated from the general fund. In two communications to the Council I have asked that legal measures be taken to recover $333 50 and costs from a person named in the ordinance as beneficiary to the amount of $86 0.

The Council has not only taken no steps to recover the amount named but has passed this ordinance notwithstanding the fact that it provided for the relief of a person already indebted to the city and to which fact the attention of the Council was called by a member of your body when the ordinance was upon its first reading

I forbear any further comment upon the liberality in the use of public money for the benefit of individuals, in utter disregard of the rights of the taxpayers as exhibited by the passage of this ordinance

HENRY FAILING Mayor

PORTLAND Or 17th May, 1874

On the final vote being taken the ordinance was lost by the following vote: Yeas Besser Caywood Lyon Moreland, Russell. Nays Burton Hill Hoyt Story

The following communication was read from the Mayor

To the Honorable the Common Council—I herewith return without my approval an Ordinance passed on the 6th inst entitled "An Ordinance for the relief of T Harbaugh"

This ordinance is similar in its provisions to an ordinance passed on the 1st April and returned to you without my approval except that it appropriates one hundred and seventy five instead of two hundred dollars

In my communication of 11th April last I gave my reasons at length for not approving the ordinance which need not be repeated here

It is sufficient to say that Mr Harbaugh if he rendered any service to the city, did so without any authority whatever and had no reason to expect compensation. It cannot be urged that he was employed in any exigency when the Council could not be applied to

The ordinance now under consideration recite that "The Superintendent made report to the Council of such appointment and the Council made no objection officially but upon the contrary remained silent upon said report"

The records show that the Superintendent of Streets reported this appointment on the 24th September 1873. No authority had been given for the appointment nor any compensation fixed. It transpired during the debate which followed the reading of the Superintendent's communication that he made the appointment at the suggestion of some members of the Council. The action of the Superintendent in exceeding his authority was severely criticised and the communication was sent to the files

It would seem that no stronger disapproval could well have been given than to send the communication to the files without an attempt to recognize it by ordinance and provide compensation for a deputy

The party for whose benefit this ordinance was passed, had an opportunity to ascertain what action the Council took upon the communication of the Superintendent of Streets. Being the person immediately interested it is a fair presumption that he did so. If he continued to serve after the Council had failed to provide any compensation for a deputy or failed to recognize the act of the Superintendent in deputizing him he did so at his own risk and it is not, in my view, a proper case for relief

In order to ascertain what merit the former ordinance possessed as a measure of relief I ascertained that some members of the Council insisted upon the appointment of a deputy in order to make place for an individual to whom some promise had been made of employment at the expense of the city. The assent of the majority of the Council could not then be had and now the ordinance charges the Superintendent by implication with exceeding his authority and compensates Mr Harbaugh

I protest in the name of the taxpayers against the action of the majority of the Council in unnecessarily multiplying offices for the benefit of individuals ... the City Treasury therefor. HENRY FAILING Mayor

PORTLAND 17th May 1874

[illegible]

The following communication was read from the Mayor

To the Honorable the Common Council—I have ... an ordinance passed at your last regular meeting entitled "An ordinance making an appropriation out of the Police Fund"

[illegible]

... of policemen only as it thought judicious, naming the number

Had this been done the Board would have had due notice of the intention of the Council and such policemen as were appointed by the Board would ... have had ample notice

By the law of the State the Board of Police Commissioners has the authority to appoint such number of policemen as it deems necessary for the safety of the public peace and enforcement of city ordinances and it is made the duty of the Council to provide for the expenses of such force. Under the law the Commissioners are made the judges of the number of policemen required and unless it can be shown that the Commissioners have abused their authority the city will be compelled to pay such force as may have been employed

If it be the opinion of the Council that nine policemen only are required, then notice should be given to the Board of Police Commissioners that the appointment of a greater number than nine policemen is regarded by the Council as an improper exercise of authority and that appropriation will be made for the payment of such number only after a given date

The Board in that event will doubtless either reduce the force or take measures to compel the Council to make appropriations for such force as the Board may think necessary

I make these recommendations with a view to an early determination of the question at issue as ... justice to the officers now employed

It seems to me that the passage of the ordinance named will only have the effect to delay a settlement of the matter, put the city to cost and meantime do great injustice to the men employed by competent authority

Only after the notice to the Police Commissioners which I have suggested, have ... the policemen now employed have notice that their salaries may not be paid. They have as much reason now to expect their salaries as at any time for the past ten years and the city will be compelled to pay them, inasmuch as they have recognized their appointment as a proper exercise of power unless the Council give the Commissioners due notice

I beg to submit that the action of the Council in this matter is in marked contrast with its action in passing other ordinances at the same meeting providing for the payment of other persons employed without any color of authority. HENRY FAILING Mayor

PORTLAND May 20 1874

The ordinance failed to pass by a unanimous vote against

The following message was read from the Mayor

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Portland—I herewith return without my approval an ordinance passed on the 6th inst entitled "An ordinance for the relief of Perry Baker." This ordinance appropriates eighty four dollars for the relief of Perry Baker out of the Stark Street Sewer Fund. I have made diligent examination of all the various papers on file relating to the Stark Street Sewer and find as follows

1 That the contract was let to one J J Parker

2 That the specifications provided for work such as was performed by Baker to be compensated for as thereinafter stated, that the specifications are made a part of the contract but neither specifications or contract names the amount of compensation for the class of work for which the bill is rendered

3 That Baker performed the work at the instance of the contractor (as appears by the report of the Committee on Streets and also of Committee on Judiciary) and that the contractor gave Baker an order on the city for the amount due him

4 That the committee refused to allow Parker or Baker for the work because the contract fixed no price

5 That both committees subsequently reported favorably upon the bill as just and recommended its payment out of the Stark Street Sewer Fund

If the work performed by Baker at the instance of the contractor is work for which the contractor was not allowed when the settlement was made with him then the claim is a just one and should be paid. But I do not think it can be paid out of the Stark Street Sewer Fund

The charter guarantees to the property holder in the case of street improvement that the work shall be let to the lowest bidder. If this work was included in the notice and provided for in the contract and, through any negligence on the part of the committee authorized to let the work, the compensation for this item was omitted, the city must pay it out of the General Fund. I do not think that the property owners can be charged with any more than is specified in the original contract which embraces the entire work

CLAIMS

The following claims against the city were ordered paid

[illegible]

ORDINANCE

[illegible]

An ordinance introduced by Councilman Hill fixing the compensation of the City Attorney and authorizing that officer to appoint a deputy in the Police Court. The ordinance provides that the City Attorney shall receive an annual compensation of $1 200 and its provisions to take effect after the first of July. The ordinance was read second time and laid over

An ordinance by the same Councilman fixing the annual compensation of the City Treasurer at $1 200 was read second time and laid over

An ordinance by the same Councilman fixing the annual compensation of the Superintendent of Streets at $1 500 was read second time and laid over

An ordinance by Councilman Besser in relation to the extension of the fire limit of the city was read second time and laid over

An ordinance in relation to preventing animals and fowls from running at large within certain limits of the city was read third time and passed

MISCELLANEOUS

A resolution was offered by the Committee on Elections appointing Judges at the approaching City election and also designating polling places in each Ward

By Councilman Hill

Resolved That the City Attorney be and is hereby directed to take such proceedings at law as are necessary to enforce the rights of the city against J D Mayberry and the sureties on his undertaking for the performance of his contract for the improvement of Harrison street. Passed

By Moreland

Resolved That the Auditor and Clerk be instructed to notify the Board of Police Commissioners that the appointment by them of a larger police force than one Chief two Captains and nine policemen is regarded by this Council as unnecessary to the preservation of the peace and good order of the city and burdensome to the taxpayers and we recommend that the police force be reduced to the number specified

On motion the Council adjourned

FESTIVALS.

The basement of the Baptist Church was the scene of a strawberry festival last evening. Those in attendance were evidently in the best of humor as they seemed to fully enjoy the delicacies set before them, and the vocal and instrumental music proved to be an interesting portion of the evening's entertainment

This evening there will be a Fair and Festival at the Unitarian Chapel corner of Seventh and Yamhill streets. The many friends whom Rev Miss Chapin has made by her earnest word from the pulpit will have the opportunity of meeting her in a social way at this time. Besides the usual features of the evening Messrs DePrans and Thielsen have kindly volunteered to entertain those present with instrumental music. A cordial invitation is extended to the public

THE MAIDEN S LAST FAREWELL

IN THE DAY OF CREMATION

Then the night wore on and we knew the worst
That the end of it all was nigh
Three doctors they had from the very first—
And what could one do but die?

Oh William she cried strew no blossoms of spring
For the new apparatus might rust
But say that a handful of shavings you ll bring
And linger to see me combust.

Oh promise me love by the fire hole you ll watch
And when mourners and stokers convene
You will see that they light me some solemn slow match
And warn them against kerosene

It would cheer me to know ere these rude breezes waft
My essences far to the pole
That one whom I love will look to the draught
And have a fond eye on the coal

"Then promise me love —and her voice fainter grew—
"While this body of mine calcifies
You will stand just as near as you can to the flue
An I gaze while my gases arise

For Thompson—Sir Henry—has found out a way
(Of his process you ve surely heard tell)
And you burn like a parlor match gently away
Nor even offend by a smell

So none of the dainty need sniff in disdain
When my carbon floats up to the sky
And I m sure love that you will never complain
Though an ash should blow into your eye.

Now promise me love —an I she murmured low—
When the calcification is o er
You will sit by my grave in the twilight glow—
I mean by the furnace door

Yes promise me love while the seasons revolve
On their noiseless axles the years
You will visit the kiln where you saw me resolve
And leach my pale ashes with tears "

— John Paul in Harper's Magazine for June

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEBATE IN THE SENATE

A dispatch from Washington, May 28, says Boreman called up the bill to establish the Territory of Pembina and to provide a temporary government therefor

Sargent moved an amendment providing that the right to vote or hold office in Territories should not be restricted on account of race, color or sex He said he believed the amendment was not only justified, but was required by the organic law of the United States Numerous petitions had been presented to Congress for this right to females, and the only notice taken of them was to report adversely In the other House, the Republican party was to a certain extent pledged to extend suffrage to females in the Territories. To confer upon women the right of suffrage would be to open wide avenues for them and tend to the advancement of society. Give them an opportunity through the ballot-box, and they will break up nefarious practices now existing and purify society The spirit of the Constitution should be carried out, and women be allowed to vote

Stewart favored the amendment

Morton favored the amendment, as embodying a fundamental principle of the Government, that all men—meaning mankind—are created equal He believed that women had the same natural right to suffrage under this Government that man had, and that to give her the right of suffrage would elevate the electoral franchise in this country

Flanigan announced himself as a new convert to woman suffrage by the glorious efforts of the women temperance crusaders.

Merrimon did not believe that the right of suffrage tended to elevate or benefit women, or that any considerable number wanted it, nor did he endorse the revolutionary construction put upon the Declaration of Independence by Morton.

Stewart said that ten years from now there would not be a man in the Senate opposed to woman suffrage, whereupon Merrimon and Conkling asked Stewart why he did not propose to have it tried in the District of Columbia

Carpenter favored the amendment, and woman suffrage everywhere

Ferry (of Michigan) favored the amendment.

Anthony combated the idea that suffrage was a natural right

The amendment was finally rejected, 19 to 27 as follows

Yeas—Anthony, Carpenter, Chandler, Conover, Ferry (of Michigan), Flanigan, Gilbert, Harvey, Mitchell, Morgan, Patterson, Pratt, Sargent, Sprague, Stewart, Tipton, Washburn, West, and Windom.

Nays—Allison, Bayard, Boreman, Boutwell, Buckingham, Clayton, Conkling, Cooper, Davis, Edmunds, Frelinghuysen, Hager, Hamilton (of Indiana), Hitchcock, Johnston, Kelly, McCreery, Merrimon, Morrill, Norwood, Ramsey, Ransom, Saulsbury, Scott, Sherman, Wadleigh and Wright

THE BILL TO ADMIT NEW MEXICO AS A STATE

The House by the very large vote of 160 yeas to 54 nays passed the bill providing for the admission of the Territory of New Mexico as a State The debate which preceded the vote was among the ablest and most noteworthy of the session The principal speech for the bill was made by Mr Elkins the Delegate from the Territory. Mr Elkins has never spoken in the House before He advocated the cause of his Territory with rare ability and eloquence If it is true that Clarkson N Potter and Samuel S Cox, of New York, are candidates for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship of that State, they would seem to have begun their public campaign in the House to-day Mr Potter made an exceedingly able speech in opposition to the bill for the admission of New Mexico, but in the course of his argument he gave expression to sentiments which permitted Mr Cox to charge him with having admitted the possibility of future secession in this country Mr Potter forecast a time when the antagonism of the large and wealthy states, such as New York and Pennsylvania, toward the smaller States, that have equal force and power in the Senate, might become so great that the large States would decide not to be bound by common ties, and when these circumstances arise, Mr Potter said, "if the great States choose to go out of the Union, who will be able to keep them in?" Mr Cox was quick to reply He stated that he had been requested by his Democratic associates to declare on their behalf that Mr Potter did not represent the sentiments of the Democratic party in Congress Mr Cox denied that the Democrats entertained any such heretical political notions as those advanced by Mr Potter, and said that the suggestions of his speech were the old talk of ante bellum days. Mr Potter saw that he had made a mistake, and disavowed the construction which had been put upon his remarks, but his language very plainly indicated that he had committed himself to the theory of a possible future rupture, by the great States of the East, of the bonds of Federal union The speech created a decided sensation Mr Kasson replied for the West and delivered an eloquent eulogy on the frontier States. Mr George F Hoar believed that New Mexico could not be admitted, since it had a population of only 150 000, of whom five-sixths cannot read or write, and a large portion cannot speak the English language The vote was a surprise to the House and to the galleries as it had not been anticipated that the proposition could secure very much strength —Wash Cor N Y Times, May 22

The Michigan Senatorship —A Washington dispatch of May 26th says At a meeting of the citizens of Michigan in this city last night it was resolved to bring forward the Hon James V Campbell one of the Justices of the Michigan Supreme Court as candidate for United States Senator to succeed Mr Chandler, whose term expires the 4th of next March

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

The movement in business circles is beginning to assume an appearance of more activity than has prevailed for a week or two past In money matters are unchanged and local finances develop no fact deserving of important comment beyond the continuance of free offers by outside parties of loanable funds some of which have been placed at reduced rates The banks are fairly supplied with funds and accommodate their customers with readiness on favorable terms—say 10 12 per cent per annum on first class paper but little of which is offering in the market

Our San Francisco exchanges denote a full supply of money and large sums go begging for borrowers at 8@10 per cent This however is not likely to last long as the demand for funds to move the immense surplus crops of that State will soon set in and draw a very large portion of the surplus capital from the money centers

The export demand for coin and bullion at New York continues large and active Up to the 29th of May over ten millions had been shipped and the steamers to leave on the 30th were to carry from $1 000 000 to $1 000 000 more. The steamer Holsatia left New York May 28th for Hamburg with the large sum of $1 160 000 including $540 000 in gold coin $400 000 in fine gold and $110,000 in fine silver The rates for exchange favor the treasure drain while some of it is due to the payment of May interest on Government bonds held in Europe

Wealth and Currency.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer asks the relation of material wealth currency and population The Enquirer which favors expansion gives a statistical answer Aside from the Enquirer's policy its figures are valuable and from them we extract as follows

In 1850 the real and personal wealth of the United States was $7 135 780 228 the volume of circulation was $109 800 000 the ratio of circulation to wealth as $1 to $65

In 1860 the real and personal wealth of the United States was $16 159 616 668, the volume of circulation was $461 000 000 the ratio of circulation to wealth as $1 to $35

In 1864 the real and personal wealth of the United States was $20 000 000 000 the volume of circulation was $750 000 000 the ratio of circulation to wealth as $1 to $27

In 1870 the real and personal wealth of the United States was $30 068 518 507 with $899 000 000 as the volume of circulation to wealth—the ratio of 1830

In 1873 the real and personal wealth of the United States was $30 068 507 500 with $1 111 000 000 as the volume of circulation to wealth—the ratio of 1864

In 1874 the real and personal wealth of the United States is $35 000 000 000 with $1 000 000 000 as the volume of circulation, the ratio of circulation to wealth would be as $1 to $35—the ratio of 1860

In 1874 the real and personal wealth of the United States is $35 000 000 with $1 207 000 000 as the volume of circulation to wealth—the ratio of 1864

In 1874 the real and personal wealth of the United States is $35 000 000 000 we have $750 000 000 as the volume of circulation which is but $1 to $47 as the ratio of circulation to wealth

Important to Importers.

A bill for the relief of importers has passed both Houses of Congress It amends the act of March 3 1873 as follows

That foreign merchandise which arrived at a port of the United States on or before the 31st of July 1872 and upon which duties were not paid prior to August 1 1872, though the same were not entered or transferred to a public store or bonded warehouse shall be entitled to the benefits provided for in the eighth section of the act entitled An act to reduce duties on imports and to reduce internal taxes and for other purposes approved June 6 1872 the same as such merchandise would have been entitled to had it actually been in a public store or bonded warehouse on or prior to the 31st day of July 1872 provided that the owner of such merchandise shall within thirty days from the passage of this act make application therefor in writing to the collector of the port at which such merchandise arrived

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Owing to the absence of a l grain carrying vessels the present demand is dull at $1 65 ₽ cental.

FLOUR—The supply is adequate but not excessive and prices are steady at $5 25@5 50 ₽ bbl for best brands and $4 50@5 for superfine and common

OATS—The receipts have somewhat decreased and prices are better, We quote at 45c ₽ bushel for good lots with a fair demand

BARLEY—Is quiet and unchanged at $1 4 at $1 50 for brewing and $1 40 a 45 for feed

FEED—Bran is quotable at $18@19 ₽ ton shorts $17@20 chops middlings etc $20@23 The supply is not large

HAY—We quote at $11@12 for loose timothy and $12 50@13 for baled ₽ ton.

POTATOES—The new crop is coming to hand in small lots old dull at ⅝@1c ₽ lb

ONIONS—Nominally quoted at $3 50 a 4 ₽ 100 lbs

BACON—The market is dull for all kinds at 8@9c ₽ lb for shoulders 9@10c for sides and 13@14c for hams Some fancy cured meats command an advance

LARD—The demand for choice lots in kegs still continues active and such is in about as much favor as in tins both styles selling at 13@14c ₽ lb

BUTTER—The market is well supplied with most varieties and prices are not changed since our last report

CHEESE—Supplies from our State dairies come in slowly, and importations are still unnecessarily large Best brands of State dairies bring 17@19 cents ₽ lb

EGGS—Lessened receipts and rather better demand for shipping have advanced rates to 18@20c ₽ dozen

CHICKENS—A fair demand exists with light receipts and steady prices at our last figures

HIDES—Shipments are heavy, and an active demand exists at 1 @10c for dry 5@7c for green and 8c for green salted if unblemished

WOOL—Considerable activity in our home market is inspired by news from the East where our Oregon wool is acquiring an excellent reputation and is in good demand Prices here of course vary with the quality and range all the way from 18@ 5 cents only extra line lots bringing the latter figure
